Updated: June 2017

The mission of The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society of Canada is to cure leukemia, lymphoma, Hodgkin's disease and myeloma, and improve the quality of life of patients and their families.

This resource guide has been developed to make it easier for those affected by blood cancers (patients, family or other caregivers) to access a complex healthcare and social service system and find the services to match your individual situation and style. This guide is a “work in progress,” not a complete list, and your comments and suggestions are welcome.

Knowing what you need and expressing those needs are the first steps in finding information and support. A cancer diagnosis can bring a sense of vulnerability and some people feel uncomfortable asking for assistance. However, you are not alone in this experience, so please let others know what you need! This includes family members, as most organizations provide services for patients and their immediate family.

If during your search for services you cannot find what you need, please inform staff about the need anyway. Identifying needs is the way to raise awareness and create change. Even if a particular organization does not offer a service, staff may be able to connect you with others who are working toward the same goals.

There are two other resource guides available:

- 1. Adolescents and Young Adult (AYA) Blood Cancer Resource Guide for BC
  - written for young people affected by blood cancer.
- 2. Navigating Childhood Blood Cancer Services in BC
  - a guide to help parents of children and adolescents to find information and resources.

Please be an informed consumer and evaluate these services according to your own situation. The summaries of these resources are in my own words, based on my current information and may require updates or changes. Your feedback is important to help make this a useful guide for people affected by blood cancers in the BC/Yukon Region.

**If you have a paper copy of this resource guide, please contact us at 604.733.2873, (toll-free 1.866.547.5433) to request the electronic version and to receive information about education and support events.*

Centre for Lymphoid Cancer (CLC) at the BC Cancer Agency

<http://www.bccrc.ca/dept/cflr>

The Centre for Lymphoid Cancer conducts cutting-edge research to learn more about the various causes, unique characteristics and clinical treatment directions for lymphoma, myeloma and lymphocytic leukemia. This program is known world-wide for its research activities. One interesting study examines family history of lymphoid cancers. If two or more direct relatives in your family have been diagnosed with a lymphoid cancer, please contact the project coordinator at 604.675.8172 for details of this study.

Leukemia/BMT Program of BC – Vancouver General Hospital

www.leukemiabmtprogram.com 604.875.4863

The Leukemia/Bone Marrow Transplant Program of BC is a large inpatient and outpatient treatment centre for leukemias and other blood disorders. This is the facility for adults requiring stem cell transplants in the province. The large multi-disciplinary team includes hematologists, researchers, nurses, social workers, physio and occupational therapists. The Hematology Clinical Trials Unit brings leading-edge treatments to patients through clinical trials. The Leukemia/BMT Program also does regular outreach clinics at regional cancer centres in Kelowna, Prince George, Abbotsford, and Victoria. See website for additional information.

St. Paul's, Royal Columbian, Burnaby General, Kelowna, Victoria, Surrey, Abbotsford and other regional facilities

There are numerous physicians, hospitals and clinics that treat people with blood cancers across the province. Hematologists, oncologists and other physicians and staff are connected to each other through professional conferences and consultations. The BC Cancer Agency is responsible for ensuring standards of care for cancer treatment. Inquire at your treatment centre about all the people on their health care team; i.e., social workers, psychologists, nurse educators, physiotherapists, pharmacists, spiritual care leaders, etc., who can help optimize your treatment and your adaptation to the illness. Let staff know what you need.

Accommodations in Vancouver

A challenge for some families who are required to travel to Vancouver for treatment can be finding (and affording) short or longer-term accommodations. In this event, you can contact the Canadian Cancer Society (see below) or the social worker at the hospital where you will be receiving treatment to find the best options for your situation.

The Canadian Cancer Society (CCS)

www.cancer.ca 1.888.939.3333

The Canadian Cancer Society addresses all types of cancer and has offices throughout Canada, with regional offices across BC. Staff and volunteers offer a wide range of services including: CancerConnection - a peer support program (currently under review), volunteer drivers for medical appointments, financial support program, lodge accommodations and a wig program.

Prevention, screening, public awareness, advocacy and funding research are other key activities of the CCS. The Canadian Cancer Encyclopedia located on their website is a source of information and statistics regarding cancer incidence and care in Canada. The Cancer Information Service provides credible information about cancer including prevention, early detection, diagnosis and treatments. Staff can also direct you to resources in your community. This bilingual confidential service is available Monday to Friday, 9 am to 6 pm. Interpretation service is available in over 100 languages.

Blood Cancer Support Groups in BC

Education and Discussion Group Events (Vancouver)
